ASSEMBLIES OF GOD U.S. MISSIONARIES IN ALASKA, JEREMIAH & SHARNAY NIEMUTH

JULY
2021

God has a way of getting our attention that cuts right through whatever is going on in our life at the time. The cliché use of the term “getting our attention” usually means that something bad happens, something tragic that caused us to finally stop and pay attention. But, sometimes it’s just a change in circumstance.

Recently, we had planned to travel to the lower 48 states to visit with some of you in Montana, Idaho, and North Dakota. We had booked services, arranged travel, and scheduled many meetings with friends and supporters. However, our plans were immediately halted when our travel trailer broke quite substantially right at the Canadian border! We spent 17 hours in their parking lot, slept overnight in the truck, and failed to find a tow truck or repair service that could help us out.

Then, our good friend Jason Mellinger, founder of a ministry to missionaries called

Helping Hands Alaska, came to our rescue. He managed to get us back to Fairbanks to begin the repair process. By the time we got everything fixed and ready to go, however, our travel plans had been pushed back enough that we decided to stay in Alaska for May and head back to the village in the beginning of June. We were thrilled to be able to minister in Wasilla, at Summit Worship Center, and in Kenai, at Kenai New Life.

We returned to Fort Yukon early to start getting things ready for the upcoming parsonage remodel. Then, Jeremiah flew down to Idaho to minister at Idaho City Christian Center’s church family camp, River City Church, in Boise, and New Hope A/G, in Challis. Even though our plans were drastically changed, God’s plans remain intact. We are SO blessed to be a part of His Kingdom!

Parsonage Remodel

After finishing work on the new church building over the past 3 years, we turned our attention to some much needed fix ups and remodel needs for the parsonage here in Fort Yukon. The main focus was the kitchen, bathrooms, carpeting, and drywall work.

Helping Hands Alaska led the work team for this project, flying in 6 men from Pennsylvania for three weeks!

Total project cost: $20,000 Still needed: $11,000

FAMILY UPDATE:

The family continues to grow and prosper! The kids did so well with all of the road travel, disruption of their schedule, and lots of meetings with new people. They are glad to be home in the village and are settling into a good summer rhythm, looking forward to boat trips, adventures in the woods, and lots of time outdoors!

JOIN OUR FINANCIAL SUPPORT TEAM

It was awesome to be able to visit with some of you and speak at your church. I know we still have a long way to go before we get to all of you, but we're thankful whenever we get a chance to travel to you and give updates in person.

This term, we are working towards getting our work budget met. This requires $3,000 of monthly giving to be able to increase our missions vision here in the Yukon Flats.

If you haven't yet partnered with us with monthly giving, here's how you can be a part of our team:

907 MISSIONS

Over the past year, I have been working with Alaska's 907 Missions Director, U.S. Missionary Terry Hull, to help promote Alaska missions all over the state. We were honored to be able to announce a few church openings in remote areas, as well as increased ministry effectiveness in areas of bush ministry, including Chi Alpha's missionary launching program called the Alaska Student Partnership.
